ABOUT ME

I am a Back-End developer with a strong foundation in programming, acquired since my adolescence by creating mods for games.

Recently, I have specialized in Restful and HTTPS APIs, initially with Node.js and Angular, but I found Go (GoLang) to be my preferred tool for its efficiency and simplicity. I recently completed a Back-End course with Java. I have a passion for programming and i am motivated by complex challenges, always looking for innovative solutions.

EXPERIENCE

2024/09 - 2024/11

Rede consultoria

Back-End developer internship

- I helped with the implementation of unit tests, reducing errors and making deliveries faster and more reliable.
- I worked on maintaining and optimizing the legacy code, ensuring more stability and performance for the system, implementing batching and queues to the system.
- Furthermore, I updated the technical documentation, aiming for greater agility in integrating new developers into the team.
